London, Nov. 23.—Instead of declaring a general blockade of the Greek ports, the allies have, according to a statement issued by the British foreign office today, withdrawn or threatened to withdraw the special privileges which Greek commerce has enjoyed since the outbreak of the war.

What these special privileges are is not specifically stated, but as an example Greece has been allowed to draft her supplies of coal from Welsh collieries. To do this, Greek merchants required special permits as the export of coal from the British Isles is allowed only under a special license.

There are many other commodities the export of which is permitted only to certain countries. Invariably when orders have been issued against the export of such commodities, Greece has been among the countries excepted.
Now, unless she concedes the demands made by the allies for assurance for the safety of their troops in the Balkans, Greece will be struck off the list of countries which have these privileges.

A Paris news agency is authority for the statement that Earl Kitchener in his representations to the Greek king and officials said that Britain next March would have 4,000,000 soldiers under arms and be able also to arm and provision 6,000,000 Russians, and that it would be stupid to think the war could end otherwise than in complete defeat for Germany.

Of the fighting in the Balkans the reports are more confusing than ever.
The German accounts still claim progress for the Austro-German and Bulgarian troops and report the capture of thousands of prisoners and many guns from the Serbians. But from the towns mentioned their advance appears very slow. It may be, as campaigned in the Balkans, a change in the disposition of the armies so that the Germans may be the first to enter Monastir. This would avoid the trouble likely to arise through Greek objection to Bulgarian occupation of the city which is so near their border.

Dispatches from Athens, however, state that the delay is due to the fact that the Serbians have defeated the Bulgarians who are advancing on the left bank of the Cerna river where the French forces are operating.

From Chassou, near the Italian frontier, it is said that the Italian troops have begun landing in Albania.

Again the fighting on the western line in France and Belgium has slowly eased while in the east on the Russian front, small engagements on widely separated sectors have occurred. Petrograd claims the capture of a first line German trench in the Dvina region and says that the capture of the Dvina on the Middle Styr river, near Kozlinitch, and in Galicia along the Stupa, offensive movements by the Russians broke down under the Russian fire.

Aero Squadron has Trouble Going From Waco to Austin

By The Associated Press.

Austin, Nov. 23.—The first aero squadron of the United States army encountered and solved many new problems in their flight today from Waco to Austin, part of their cross country trip from Fort Sill, Okla., to San Antonio, Texas.
All six of the machines reached Austin safely, but not until four of them had been lost for nearly two hours in a wild chase over the Texas prairie to which caused several of the planes to drift fifty miles westward of their course.
Three of the machines were forced to land in unmarked country to get their bearings. The aviators accomplished the landings successfully, a feat which was regarded as of special value during a trip planned to test the efficiency of the machines by conditions as near as possible to actual warfare.

The squadron expects to resume tomorrow the journey to Fort San Antonio at San Antonio.

The failure of Pilot Carberry of the United States aviation corps to make proper allowance for the drift of his machine in a strong east wind, and his mistaking a town west of Waco as a route town, caused the drift of the aviators to go more than eighty miles west of their course in their trip from Waco to Austin today and furnished them the biggest thrill of their journey thus far from Fort Sill to San Antonio. Lieutenant Bowen, who observed the railroad markings closely and flew low without a compass, and Lieutenant Milling, who followed a compass course with due allowances for the wind, made the trip to Austin without trouble and in good time.

As a result of the experience, the aviators are planning to make some interesting calculations of the allowance that must be made for drifting in the wind in attempting to follow a fixed course. They will probably suggest that the government's maps should be made to show the drift of the wind in the low in cross-country work. The officers are using postal maps, which show railroad towns and post roads, but not all natural landmarks.

Waco Invites Entire County to Jubilee Over Completion Good Roads, Tuesday Night

All McLennan county is invited to join with Waco Tuesday night in a jubilee open-air banquet over the completion of the $1,075,000 good road system, apportioned to the county by the state, which is pronounced by highway experts to be one of the finest in the western hemisphere. The farmers of the county are to be the guests. Waco will pay the bills.

It is planned to spread the tables on South Sixth street. Such electrical and other decorations as have never before been seen in the Southwest will turn somber night into day. Waco's best bandmen will discourse their most lively airs, there will be a few short, very short talks, from men worth hearing and a repeat will be given of the quality of the work which has given the county the feeling of fullest satisfaction to all partakers.

Chairman W. V. Crawford and his committee held an enthusiastic meeting last night, at which the university authorities in carrying out the details of the celebration were given by Dr. and Mrs. S. P.
Brooks. The dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.
Weather permitting, it will be served in the open air. City people are to be relegated to the high ground and on this night the farmers, the men who use the good roads most, will be the guests of honor, and it will not cost them a cent.

Badges will be distributed admitting citizens of Waco to the banquet tables and the committees will get to work as soon as they can have the badges printed. Members of the committee in charge are counting on distributing at least 1,000 of these badges, which are to be worn from the time they are purchased to the night of the banquet.

The invitation is out. Waco says to McLennan county, "Come."

RODRIGUEZ FOOLS OREGON COMPLETELY

VILLA COMMANDER GOING TO WARD NOGALES WITH MOST OF HIS ARMY.

American Engineer Named Bean Is Forced to Drive Train and Then Killed.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 23.—Gen. Jose Rodriguez, with part of the Villa force that recently evacuated Cananea, Ariz., is reported to have driven a train from the Rio Grande border, where it was an official report received here. It was intimated among Carranza authorities that officers who were ordered to close the route to Nogales
"had failed miserably."

Carranza reports confirmed the fact that General Rodriguez, commanding the Carranza forces, was misled by the strategy of General Rodriguez.
When Rodriguez evacuated Cananea, Ariz., several hundred men departed for the south. A number of men remained to pose as deserters and to give the impression that the entire army had marched southward. Rodriguez, with the main force, approximately 3,000 men, skirted the Carranza column and took a mountain trail leading to Nogales.

The method of escape was effectually ascertained by Carranza officials today. In leaving Cananea, Rodriguez, it was said, instructed certain of his men to desert him and spread the information that the evacuating force had split.

As he left Cananea he dispatched a lightly equipped cavalry force of several hundred directly south. He then kidnapped an American engineer named Bean, and compelled him to drive a train with his main army to Puerto Cito. While en route one car of the long train was derailed and it is reported that Col. Jesus Beltran, formerly prefect of Cananea and now of Rodriguez' commanders, threatened to kill the engineer, charging him with endeavoring to delay the train. Later Bean was reported shot and killed.

The arrival of Rodriguez at Nogales, it was said, would mean that instead of attacking a few hundred Villa troops there, Oregon would have to fight a force variously estimated at from 3,000 to 7,000, equipped with Villa's heaviest artillery.

Mexicans Cross Border at Nogales and Fire on Patrol

By The Associated Press.

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 23.—Twenty-five Mexicans crossed the border today and fired into a border patrol of six negro soldiers of the United States cavalry.
A private named Pool was shot through the leg. The troops returned to drive the train from Cananea on which the forces of General Rodriguez escaped, was found today eight miles from Puerto Cito. It was riddled with bullets. Bean was said to have been an American.

Bean's Body Found.
Naco, Ariz., Nov. 23.—The body of Engineer Bean of the Cananea Consolidated Copper company's railroad, was found here today and the special train carrying the Con T. Kennedy Carnival company, was increased to eleven in a statement given out tonight by officials of the Carnival company. All the deaths were connected with the carnival company and two other employees were said to be probably fatally injured. They are in a local hospital. Forty others are suffering from painful but not necessarily fatal injuries.

City Will Recognize Homecoming of Students of Baylor University

The formal opening of the Baylor Homecoming this afternoon will be greeted with blowing of all the steam whistles in the city, according to the plans of the Young Men's Business League. A special committee to assist the university authorities in carrying out the details of the celebration program was appointed by President W. W. Naman at the meeting of the directors of the league in the club room last night.

The committee, composed of W. T.
Wheeler, chairman, S. B. Price and D. P. Wallace, will visit proprietors of all manufacturing and other establishments having steam whistles this morning. With the request that they blow the whistles for several minutes beginning at 4:30 this afternoon. At that time the reception to alumni, former students and friends of the university which will bring several hundred former students and alumni back to their alma mater for two days.

The Y. M. B. L. committee will also work with a committee from the student body of Baylor in carrying out the operation of city officials to clear Austin avenue for the college parade and historical pageant tomorrow afternoon. An effort will be made to clear the street completely of traffic for the hour required for the parade to pass the hall.

W. H. Pool, head master of the Baylor academy, accompanied by Prof.
F. G. Guitard of the university, Dr.
L. McGlasson and Mordis Falkner visited the Y. M. B. L. rooms last night to express the university's gratitude for the co-operation of the league previously rendered and to ask further co-operation in carrying out the details of the program. The civic improvement committee of the league has for the past several weeks been working with the Baylor authorities arranging for the decoration of the streets and business houses of the city.

Capt. P. A. Weathered, chairman of the committee, reported to the Y.
M. B. L. directors last night that the efforts of his committee had met with satisfying response from the citizens and business men. He reported that his committee had arranged with E.
L. McGlasson and Mordis Falkner to have the streets of the city decorated with bunting to remain up today and tomorrow. The feasts of in and outsiders strung across the streets will also be lighted during the two days of the homecoming.

Superintendent O. B. Watkins of the Amicable building, upon the request of the Baylor Homecoming committee, has consented to illuminate the big building in the same manner as was done the closing night of the College Homecoming.

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 23.—The number of deaths resulting from a head-on collision near here yesterday between a Central of Georgia passenger train and a special train carrying the Con T. Kennedy Carnival company, was increased to eleven in
a statement given out tonight by offi-

Oil Salesman Burned to Death.
By The Associated Press.
Campbell, city salesman for a local oil company, burned to death today when had overturned and pinned him to the ground, ignited. Campbell dictated messages to his wife and daughter to persons who vainly tried to extricate ton Palace last Sunday. Every light in the building will be turned on. The handsome illumination of the building last Sunday night attracted much favorable comment, and the repetition tonight and tomorrow night is counted on to prove one of the most spectacular decorative features of the Homecoming.

Dr. Brooks last night requested the Morning News to extend an invitation to all alumni, former students and the general public to attend the reception in Carroll chapel at 3:30 this afternoon. No formal invitations will be issued and everybody will be welcomed by the president of the university and Mrs. Brooks.

Athletic pep meetings last night and today will be held in Carroll chapel marked the preparation of the students for giving the two-days program the zest and spice of collegiate enthusiasm. Several of the vanguard of the old students were drifting in for the Baylor love feast and the entire Varsity was characterized by a spirit of expectancy and vigorous college life. Baylor spirit will be rampant during the pilgrimage in the former sons and daughters of the alma mater today and tomorrow.

Homecoming Program.

The homecoming program for today, the first day, begins with the reception to former students, alumni and friends, given by President and o'clock a typical student rally will be held in the big new grandstand.

Songs and yells for the annual football game between Baylor and her old rival, Texas Christian University, tomorrow will be practiced for the final time. Tonight the program provides for several addresses by prominent alumni in Carroll chapel, and an old-time soiree in Georgia Burnight, which begins at 8 o'clock, is as follows:

ment of short reminiscence addresses by alumni of all classes. The program ranges all the way from 1849 to 1903. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the college band and orchestra will perform in at Twelfth and Austin and march through the business part of the city to the University campus. At 2:30 the annual foot-

SMALL SUBMARINES ADMIT SPENDING PROVE INADEQUATE MILLIONS FOR RELIEF FOR COAST DEFENSE OF GERMAN WARSHIPS

RECENT MANEUVERS OF ATLANTIC FLEET SHOWED AMERICAN
UNDERWATER CRAFT PRAC-TICALLY USELESS IN GUARD-ING AGAINST HOSTILE SHIPS.

FLOTILLA UNABLE TO MAKE TIME

"Red" Transports and Convoys Land Troops Successfully Because Sub-mersibles Were Late in Arriving at Appointed Station—Larger Boats Are Urged.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Abandonment of the present coast defense type submarine in favor of larger seagoing submarines may be recommended by the navy department as a result of lessons learned during the recent maneuvers of the Atlantic fleet and unofficial information concerning the size of underwater craft now in service in Europe.

There are indications, it was said today, that the United States is lagging behind in submarine development, even with the 100-ton submersi-ble nearing completion and two of 1300 tons soon to be ordered. Navy officials have been particularly impressed by the apparent probability that a submarine of approximately 1500 tons measuring 250 feet in length has been engaged in the warfare against allied merchantmen.

Reports of the fleet maneuvers, it has just become known, tell graphic stories of the difficulties encountered by the twelve little submarines attached to the "Blue" force commanded by Admiral Flecher and defending the coast against a theoretical enemy. The boats were at sea several days and encountered continuous rough weather.
While unexpected mechanical troubles were encountered the crews of the vessels suffered extremely from seasickness, bad air, improper food and the continual buffeting they received in the pitching and rolling.

To impairment of the efficiency of the crews by seasickness alone many minor mishaps to the boats are said to be attributed.

The maneuvers included the first attempt to employ the submarines, all of the coast defense type and none displacing more than 800 tons, at nearly 1,000 miles off shore, the zone within which coast submarines should be able to operate in any weather.

One of the twelve boats was unable to reach its station, as it would not steer properly in the rough weather.
The other eleven, battered down tight days a time and with weary crew pouring over them day and night, carried out their orders. Later the "Blue" commander discovered that his "Red" enemy was sweeping southward. He ordered the submarines to follow and to attack the enemy's rear.

An indication of the difficulties encountered is given in the fact that it took six hours to convey this order to one of the submarines.

The flotilla was able to make less than half the speed required to bring it to its appointed station on time.
Navigation was accomplished only by dead reckoning, for with their vessels closed up tight and tumbling about in the waves the officers could not verify their positions. They were fifty miles or more out of position at the conclusion of the trip and the "Red" transports and convoys swept through the breach they left to land an army on American soil.

While no definite recommendations have been made, the question of the value of a submarine as small as the present type for coast defense work is being seriously considered. The argument is made that the present type are more than seventy boats of 800 tons or less displacement now built or building for the navy.

The view has been presented, it is understood, that with larger submarines the difficulties of navigation at sea would be reduced, greater speed could be attained and the efficiency of the boats for purposes such as that of the maneuvers increased proportionately.

New Madrid, Mo., Nov. 23.—Five so-called night-riders and two private detectives were wounded in a pitched battle fought last midnight in the center of a marsh a mile southwest of Clarkton, Mo., near here. Nine of the nightriders were captured today in an all-day chase by
bloodhounds and a large posse of farmers.
Tonight virtually every citizen of Clark-
ton and every land owner in the vicinity
was armed in expectation of another attack by the nightriders. The latter are a secret band of tenants and laborers
who have been waging a feud-like war for higher wages and lower food prices.

The feud between tenants and laborers
on one side and land owners and merchants on the other has been in progress here for several months. It has spread throughout New Madrid county in Southeast Missouri. Six detectives have been camping secretly for two weeks in a shack on the farm of T. S. Hesser, a wealthy landowner and banker against whom the night riders have centered their attacks. The detectives had been suffering from lack of food and shelter. The night riders preparatory to a contemplated raid on their meeting place.

Yesterday the hiding place of the detectives was discovered by the night riders, and although the detectives had several hours before midnight that they were to be attacked, they feared to leave the hut. The swamp contained many scattered tree stumps each large enough to hide a man.

Shortly after midnight about thirty
men, sheltered behind stumps, began firing at the detectives' shack. Volleys continued more than an hour and about 200 rounds were fired on each side. The detectives replied through improvised loopholes, and counted five fallen night riders.

OFFICIALS OF HAMBURG-AMERI-CAN LINE GO ON TRIAL IN NEW YORK ON CHARGES OF CON-SPIRING TO DECEIVE AND DE-FRAUD UNITED STATES.

CAPT. K. BOY-ED IN LEADING ROLE

Witness Testifies That German Attache Gave Him $750,000 to Spend in Getting Supplies to Teutonic Vessels—Clearing of Lorenzo and Ber-wind Gone Into an Opening Day.

New York, Nov. 23.—Witnesses testifying today in the trial of several Hamburg-American steamship line officials who are charged with conspiring to deceive and defraud the United States by sending neutral relief ships with coal and other supplies to German war vessels in the Atlantic and Pacific at the beginning of the European war, said Captain K. Boy-Ed played a leading role in the alleged conspiracy. Captain Boy-Ed is German naval attaché with headquarters at the German embassy in Washington.

One of these witnesses swore that Captain Boy-Ed personally directed the expenditure of approximately $750,000, which, unsolicited and unexpected, had been deposited to the witness' credit at a New York bank in June, early in September, 1914. Of this money, the witness testified, $350,- 000 was telegraphed to the Nevada National bank at San Francisco in one month sum, $215,000 was paid in several amounts to the North German-Lloyd steamship line here, about $75,- 000 to the Hamburg-American and some of the remainder was still on hand. All of these disbursements this witness attested were made by order of Captain Boy-Ed.

This witness, Gustave B. Kutenkampff, a local German importer and expert, and others testified in the trial of Dr. Karl H. H. H. H. H. H. H.
Kutenkampff, George Kottler and Joseph Poppinkhaus, all officials of the Hamburg-American line, who are charged with conspiracy in having directed the loading and dispatching of supplies to German war vessels in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The testimony, which virtually opened the government's case against the defendants, was made by order of a short address to the jury
by Roger B. Wood, assistant United States district attorney, in which Mr.
Wood said that the government would show that "the defendants rode roughshod over the laws and treaties of the United States as contemptuously as if these laws and treaties had been mere scraps of paper."

Offer to Concede Some Charges.
William Rand, counsel for the defendants, offered to concede certain charges of the government, involving twelve steamers, and in his concession admitted that Dr. Huesen and his associates had sent out the vessels as chartered by the government's contract. He offered to concede that the Hamburg-American line, who are charged with conspiracy in having directed the
loading and dispatching of supplies to German war vessels in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, had been supplied with supplies in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The testimony, which virtually opened the government's case against the defendants, was made by
order of a short address to the jury
by Roger B. Wood, assistant United States district attorney, in which Mr.
Wood said that the government would
show that "the defendants rode rough-
shod over the laws and treaties of the United States as contemptuously as if
these laws and treaties had been mere
scraps of paper."

We are willing to admit that $750,- 000 has been spent as the government has charged. We are willing to admit that we are willing to go much further than that—we will admit that $2,000,000 of German money was spent in chartering and supplying vessels for relief of German warships in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. "How much more?" asked Mr.
Wood.

"That is all I know of," was the reply, "but admitting the facts, we do not admit the intent to deceive or defraud, nor do we admit the intent to violate the laws of the United States." Cleared for Buenos Aires.
Kutenkampff's story on the witness stand was that he had been summoned to Buenos Aires.

Missouri Night Riders and Detectives Stage Battle

By The Associated Press.

New Madrid, Mo., Nov. 23.—Five so-called night-riders and two private detectives were wounded in a pitched battle
fought last midnight in the center of a
marsh a mile southwest of Clarkton, Mo.,
near here. Nine of the nightriders were captured today in an all-day chase by
bloodhounds and a large posse of farmers.
Tonight virtually every citizen of Clark-
ton and every land owner in the vicinity
was armed in expectation of another attack by the nightriders. The latter are
a secret band of tenants and laborers
who have been waging a feud-like
war for higher wages and lower food
prices.

The feud between tenants and laborers
on one side and land owners and merchants on the other has been in progress here for several months. It has spread throughout New Madrid county in Southeast Missouri. Six detectives have been camping secretly for two weeks in a shack on the farm of T. S. Hesser, a wealthy landowner and banker against
whom the night riders have centered their attacks. The detectives had been suffering from lack of food and shelter. The night riders preparatory to a contemplated raid on their meeting place.

Yesterday the hiding place of the
detectives was discovered by the night
riders, and although the detectives had
several hours before midnight that they were to be attacked, they feared to leave
the hut. The swamp contained many
scattered tree stumps each large enough
to hide a man.

Shortly after midnight about thirty
men, sheltered behind stumps, began firing at the detectives' shack. Volleys continued more than an hour and about 200
rounds were fired on each side. The detectives replied through improvised

Horticulturists Conduct School of Instruction Here

Expert horticulturists of the state made a brief trip to Waco yesterday for the purpose of giving lectures and demonstrations relative to pruning and spraying fruit trees and the study of insect pests and plant diseases. Dividing into three teams, the party visited the Mordis Falkner farm of East Waco, the N. G. Crews orchard, two and one-half miles south of Waco, and Speegleville.

In the afternoon the party held a big general meeting at Lakeview, a suburb of the city. Many fruit growers from the various sections of the state were present at the meeting held there, which consisted of lectures on grading, marketing and packing fruit.

BAYLOR PAGEANT IS SET FOR TOMORROW

BIG PARADE WILL FORM AT TWELFTH AND AUSTIN STREETS.

All Activities of Student Life Will Be Represented—Friends of University Invited to Take Part.

Starting at 2 o'clock tomorrow the big pageant for the homecoming of the old Baylor students will be replete with every phase of Baylor life. The floats, decorated autos and carriages will represent in some manner the various activities of university life. The routing of the pageant will be from Twelfth and Austin streets through the center of the city, thence down Fourth to Franklin, on Franklin to Fifth and down to Carroll field in time for the big annual football classic between the Christians of T. C. U. and the Bears from Baylor. Leading the pageant will be the well-known Waco police force in their extensively advertised white cotton suits. These will head the parade, followed by the entire faculty, from the beginning to the return to Carroll field. Following these will come the marshals, the Baylor band in their regulation uniforms of cap and duster, decorated autos led by President Brooks and family, followed by another group belonging to Richard Burleson, one of the former presidents of Baylor, while the school was still located at Independence; Dr. George W. Raines, son of the senior Raines of Baylor fame. These autos will be followed by floats containing speakers for the two days' celebrations and prominent visitors and friends and faculty members.

Following the more formal opening of the parade will be the various floats from the life of the institution. These floats will be under the personal direction of Mr. Fisk, an expert at staging pageants and float decorating. The "B" association of honor students from Baylor will be represented in the first big float. Beside the big art wagon will be the members of the student body, the group of recognized work marching in group formation. These men will be from the literary students as well as the athletics. The floats for the pageant will follow the B float and this department of the big parade will be led by Prof. W. H. Pool, followed by the members of the faculty and friends of Baylor. The Town Girls' club will be represented by another elaborate float decorated by the members of the club marching on either side and in the rear of the standard bearer of their organization.

Following these will be members of the senior class in open cabs. The seniors will be in regulation uniform of caps and gowns in keeping with their dignity. The cabs with their tops thrown back will be profusely decorated and will lend color to the section, making one of the interesting departments. The model class, under the direction of Prof. Lillie Martin, will also be represented in the parade. This class is made up of little children about 5 to 7 years of age.

The four literary societies of the young men and women of Baylor will be represented in eight floats, two from each society. The members of the organizations will form double file in march formation and the two floats allotted to each will be in the section belonging to the particular society. The Callopan society, which is the largest, will lead this section of the parade and will be followed by the Philomatheans of the college and academy, respectively. The other society for young women, the Rufus C. Burlesons, will enter the parade in order, followed by members of the Epsilon chapter of the college and the academy.

Mingling the pageant to a close will be a human callopan, consisting of about twenty young men. This float will be under the direction of Professor Evans and promises to be one of the greatest departures from the ordinary pageantry that has ever been staged in Waco. This pageant is to represent to a certain extent the strength and influence of the University and every one whether a present student, ex-student or friend of the institution is invited to join in the section of the parade for which they are fitted. The decorations of the pageant will be under the direction of Mr. Fisk, who is now working on the various floats at the university. Mr. Fisk has consented to give suggestions and supervise the decorating of any autos or carriages, and to work out any unique color scheme possible if the driver will call at the university grounds, where he is at work.

The pageant will be formed at Twelfth and Austin streets, front of the public library and promptly at 2 o'clock the wheels will be started. To alleviate as much confusion as possible in the formation of the big parade, the following order will be carried out before formation, every one belonging to the various sections and those wishing to take part in the pageant being requested to observe their places and to take their station in that section.

Baylor band, ahead of autos on Austin between Twelfth and Fourteenth. Auto section Austin between Twelfth and Fourteenth.

"B" association to form back of auto section; Mordis Falkner will be marshal for the auto and B sections. Carriage section will form on Twelfth between Austin and Columbus streets, facing Austin.

Town Girls' club back of carriage section on Twelfth; W. W. Naman will be marshal for the carriage and Town Girls' section.

Seniors on Twelfth between Austin and Franklin, facing Austin.

Callopan, college and academy Philomatheans, respectively, on Franklin between Twelfth and Thirtieth, facing Twelfth street; J. B. Fisher marshal.

Rufus C. Burleson, college and academy, Epsilon chapter, respectively, on Franklin between Eleventh and Twelfth, facing Twelfth; E. R. Nash Jr., marshal. The callopan, under the direction of Prof. Evans, will bring up the rear.

The pageant will be under the direction of Prof. F. G. Guitard, who is chief marshal for the day, assisted by Dr. L. L. McGlasson. As their assistant marshals these men have secured E. R. Nash Jr., J. B. Fisher, W. W. Naman and Mordis Falkner.

Many of the Waco members of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, left last night and will leave this morning for the annual conference of the Central Texas district, which will be held in Corsicana, beginning today. The meetings will be presided over by Bishop J. H. McCoy of Birmingham, Ala.

Rev. Mr. McGuire is the only pastor of the denomination who has been located here for more than a year. He has been residing in Waco for the last three years. It has been rumored that there will be one or two changes in the local pastorate as a result of the conference, though nothing has as yet been confirmed.

The pastor from Waco who will attend the conference are Rev. F. P. Culver, pastor Austin Avenue Methodist church, who has served here one year; Rev. John R. Morris, Fifth Street church, one year; Rev. J. H. Howard, Morrow Street church, one year; Rev. D. A. McGuire, Bell's Hill church, three years; Rev. A. E. Carraway, Elm Street church in East Waco; Rev. R. F. Brown, Herring Avenue church.

The presiding elder of the Waco district, Rev. J. A. Whitehurst, will also attend the conference, with Rev. R. A. Burroughs, superintendent of the orphanage here. Lay delegates from Waco are G. W. Barcus and William Lambdin of Waco, D. Holvey of Lorena and J. I. Campbell of Mart.

by telephone to the Hamburg-American line office here on the afternoon of Aug. 5, 1914, and there had met Dr. Buerz, John H. Gans, now dead; Kotter and Hachmeister. They had told him that they wanted him to clear two American steamers, the Lorenzo and the Berwind, loaded with coal, with all possible speed—that afternoon, it then lacked only half an hour of closing time at the customs house and Kulenkampff hesitated to do as they asked, because he was not in the custom of clearing ships.

"They told me," he said, "that they did not want the Hamburg-American line to appear in the transaction."

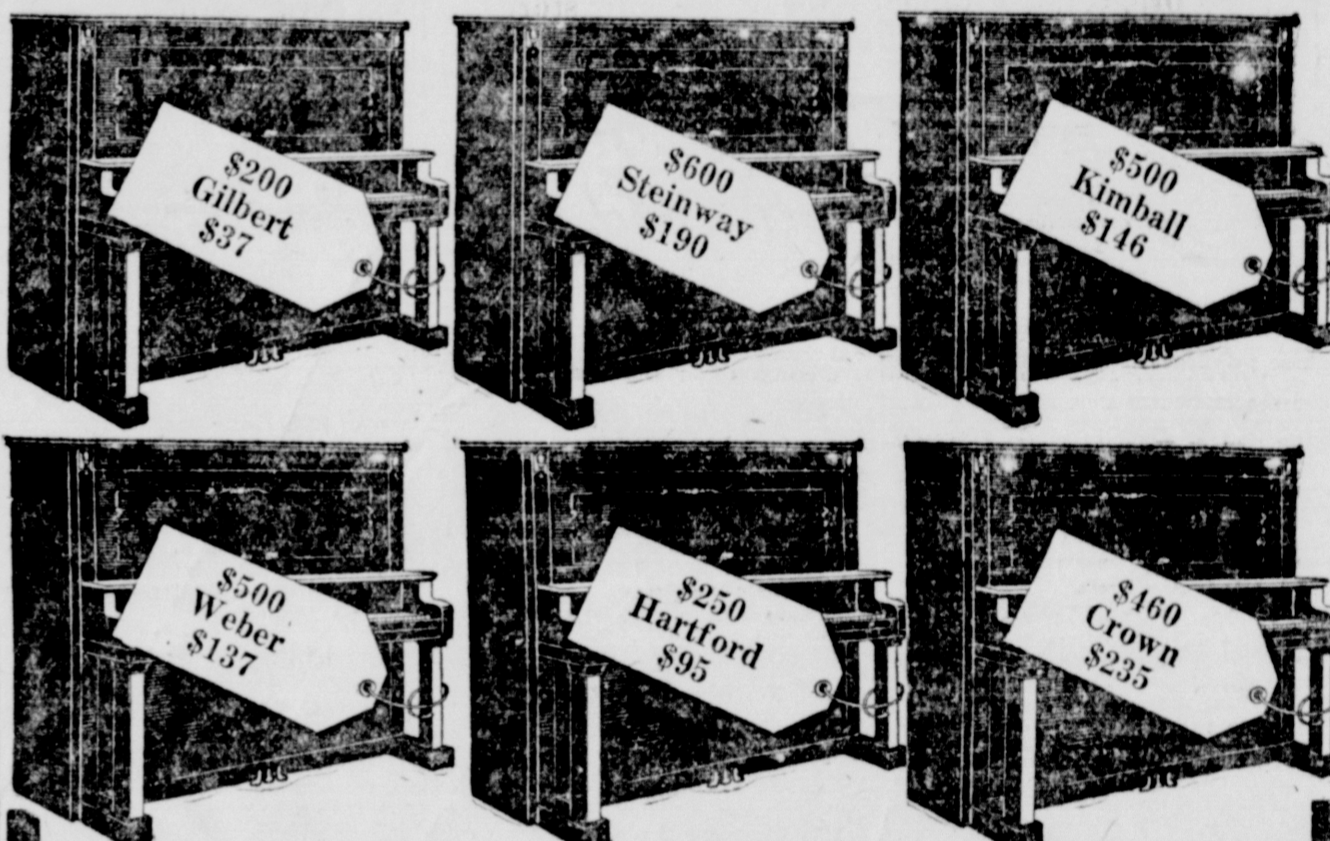

After a parley of several minutes, during which Kulenkampff told them he had a brother in business in Buenos Aires, he decided that he would accommodate them and swear to the clearance manifests, giving his name as shipper and his brother in Buenos Aires as the consignee. Accordingly, he went to the customs house and did so and the vessels sailed without delay, the Berwind that evening and the Lorenzo the next day.

It developed from stories told on the stand by succeeding witnesses that Captain Edward Falkenberg of the Berwind had likewise sworn to a manifest giving the shipment aboard the vessels as coal and that a supplemental manifest was not made till the next day to cover certain cases of provisions and oils which a gang of stevedores had been loading on the Berwind falsely to the manifest, it developed, Captain Falkenberg was fined $500 by the port authorities here last December. This money was paid, in the captain's behalf, by the New York and Porto Rico Steamship company, the Berwind's owners.

"And was the $500 repaid to you?" Mr. Wood asked Franklin D. Mooney, president of the company.

"It was," Mooney testified; "it came to us through our attorneys. I understand they received it from the Hamburg-American line."

No Insurance But Indemnity.

Mr. Mooney and another official of the steamship company testified that the sudden calamity of war had made it impossible to obtain insurance on their steamers, the Berwind and the Lorenzo, at the time they were chartered to the Hamburg-American line. Accordingly an indemnity bond was furnished by the Hamburg-American line for $250,000 in the case of the Lorenzo and for $250,125 in the case of the Berwind. The Hamburg-American line went on the bond with two sureties, Edward J. Berwind and John A. Berwind, millionaire coal operators.

"This was in case anything should happen," it was testified, "in case the steamers should be delivered back to us."

Both steamers were seized by the entente allies' warships, it developed. The Berwind came back home after long proceedings, but the Lorenzo was confiscated and sold under prize court orders.

"And did you get her full value as set forth in the indemnity bond?" Mr. Wood asked Richard D. Wrigley of the firm which owned the Lorenzo.

"We did," he replied.

Hamburg-American Line Paid.

Later Mr. Wood asked Mr. Mooney from whom the $250,000 was received.

"We got it through our attorneys," he said. "I understand it came from the Hamburg-American line."

Edward J. Berwind, head of the coal company bearing his name, testified that his firm had sold coal to the Hamburg-American line for more than thirty years and that he did not hesitate to become a signer on the bond when requested.

Both the Lorenzo and Berwind, the witness testified, sailed with super cargoes placed aboard by the Hamburg-American line. The super cargoes, the government charges, carried sealed instructions to be opened after sailing in the case of all sixteen ships on which the charges are based, it is alleged, in some cases these instructions were opened and the super cargo assumed command before the steamer had passed out beyond the three-mile limit over which the United States exercises judgment.

Although the government's witness today testified mostly concerning the Berwind and Lorenzo, the names of other steamers sent from American ports on the same errand figured in some of the testimony. There was little variance except as to sailing dates and destinations of any of these vessels.

Capt. Boy-Ed's Connection.

Captain Boy-Ed's alleged connection with the relief plan for German warships was told by Kulenkampff. After he got the Berwind and Lorenzo off his hands, the witness testified, he was notified some weeks later he had $750,000 on deposit at Speyer & company's, none of which was owing to him and all of which was entirely unexpected.

"What was the next development?" Mr. Wood asked.

"A man called me on the telephone," Mr. Kulenkampff replied, "and said he was Captain Boy-Ed and that the money was to be spent as he said. A representative here of the Deutsche Bank of Berlin confirmed this."

"Did you spend it as Captain Boy-Ed told you to?" Mr. Wood asked.

"I did. The first disbursement was $350,000. I was told to telegraph it to the Nevada National bank at San Francisco, and I did so."

Kulenkampff told in detail of the other disbursements, all of which he said had been ordered by Captain Boy-Ed.

Peeling the Skin Is Better Than Bleaching

Ever since the discovery that mercurized wax would absorb and remove a discolored complexion, its use by ladies as a substitute for bleaching creams has grown rapidly. A perfect complexion can be maintained indefinitely if this remarkable substance is used. Its beneficial cleansing, brightening and preservative action is quickly apparent, and ladies who have been paying high prices for "special bleach" from beauty specialists, soon recognize that mercurized wax outranks them all. It has become so popular that it can be obtained at all druggists, who have it in original one-ounce packages. The favorite way of using it is to apply it, like cold cream, before retiring, washing it off in the morning.

The Saxette lotion for wrinkles and the facial contour has also become extremely popular. One ounce powdered saxette is dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face with this has a splendid effect in erasing wrinkles and improving contour.

SPECIAL NOTICE COMES FROM PUBLIC LIBRARY
The Literary club and the Review club are pursuing courses in modern drama this year. The Woman's club has done so in former years. The English class at Baylor has special course on this subject. In addition, many women who keep abreast with reading have caught the idea that the dramatic form is coming into fiction. Hence, it is an interesting note to hear that the public library has a compiled list at the library which can be consulted at any time. This gives history and criticism of the drama. In addition to laws for drama, the library has a collection of the recent plays. Take "Damaged Goods" as it will be at the Auditorium this week. Many women should be interested in knowing something of the author, something of who Brecht and Ibsen, nothing of current criticisms upon this strong play, which has been so strongly attacked and defended. Personal interest and information concerning details of production of the play is a pleasure in witnessing. It is timely.

TWELVE YEARS OF FAILING HEALTH
Brought to Happy End. Says the People in Three Counties Know What Cardui Did for Her.

Weaverville, N. C.—Mrs. Abigail Hampton, of this place, says that about 12 years ago she began to take Cardui after having been in failing health for 12 years, during which time she had to take to her bed four days out of each month, and suffered agony; that the doctors told her she must have female trouble and gave her medicine which did her no good and finally insisted on her going to the hospital for treatment.

She goes on to say: "I am a large woman, and my ordinary weight, 160 pounds, went down to 135. I got so I just dragged around and could scarcely sit up—My neighbors all thought I was going to die and would say 'I couldn't live long. My little daughter thought the same...."

"My husband and friends urged me to try Cardui, and he bought me some of it. I began feeling better as soon as I began taking it, and I steadily improved until I was well and strong. I make my garden, do my housework and have cooked for 20 boarders at one time. Am a strong, healthy woman, permanently cured by Cardui. My husband and I can't say enough for Cardui. The people in three counties know what this medicine has done for me, for neither I nor my husband ever cease praising it."

Cardui is for sale at all druggists with full directions for use. Try it.

Corpus Christi Men Allowed to Leave Jail at Victoria

By The Associated Press.

Victoria, Nov. 23.—County Clerk August Uehlinger, Constable Lee Riggs, Tom Dunn, Henry Stevens and Ed Castleberry of Corpus Christi, sentenced to jail and penitentiary sentences for an alleged election conspiracy by Federal Judge Burns, who have been serving the last sixty days in the county jail here, were released this afternoon on appeal bond and left for their homes.

The Victoria county jail was placed under quarantine yesterday following the outbreak of diphtheria with the jailer's daughter, but the county health officer lifted the quarantine to allow the Corpus Christi men their releases after their bonds had been perfected.

Governor to Help Give Prohibition Fair Trial in Bell

By The Associated Press.

Houston, Nov. 23.—Prohibitionists of Bell county will receive a "full, fair trial of their ideas," Governor Ferguson states in a letter made public at Temple today by Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the First Methodist church of that city. Everything within the power of the chief executive of the state will be done toward enforcing the local option law, he says.

The governor writes that "when the campaign closed in Bell county and the anti-prohibitionists lost, I accepted the result cheerfully and I have no enemies to punish. As Governor I shall cheerfully co-operate with the local authorities in enforcing the will of the people in order that my prohibition friends may receive a full, fair trial of their ideas on this question."

With reference to that part of a letter in which Dr. Knickerbocker referred to the speeches of the governor the executive says:

"While I did discuss you in my speeches, you must remember that you yourself had made a few passing brief remarks that were calculated to disturb the equanimity which had theretofore been peaceful."

Reception for Corpus Christi Men.

Corpus Christi, Nov. 23.—Fifteen hundred people, with two brass bands, met August Uehlinger, Lee Riggs, Tom Dunn, Henry Stevens and Ed Castleberry, convicted last September in the federal court of conspiracy to defraud the United States by corrupting a general election, who were released on appeal bond from the Victoria, Texas, county jail today when they arrived here tonight. Enthusiasm in favor of the men was high and the demonstration was said to have been one of the greatest in the history of the city.

When the men had been greeted, a parade was formed with 200 crowded automobiles in line, which went through the business section. Prominent business men publicly announced their belief that the men were innocent.

Turkey Crop Beats Record.

By The Associated Press.
San Antonio, Nov. 23.—All records have been broken in the shipment of turkeys from Southwest Texas for holiday season. From seventeen counties in this section reports indicate that 46,000 turkeys have been shipped to northern markets for Thanksgiving. These reports do not include many thousands more of the festive birds used for home consumption. The turkey crop this year is the largest in the history of Texas.

Acquit Missouri Auditor of Drawing Illegal Warrants

By The Associated Press.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 23.—John P. Gordon, state auditor, late today was acquitted by a jury in the circuit court of having drawn illegal warrants on the state treasury.

The verdict was on instruction of the court, the judge having told the jury that if they did not believe Mr. Gordon knowingly violated the law he should be found innocent on an information charging him with having drawn a warrant to cover his expenses to a convention of state auditors at Salt Lake City last summer.

A charge of having issued a warrant for the expenses of his son, Morris G. Gordon, supervisor of building and loan associations, who attended a national meeting of similar officers in San Francisco, also was made against Mr. Gordon, but it probably will not be prosecuted, as the principle involved was the same in both cases.

First Step Is Taken to Build New Ships in Government Yards
By The Associated Press.
Washington, Nov. 23.—Secretary Daniels announced today that he had taken the first step with a view to building in government navy yards battleships numbers 43 and 44, private bids for which exceeded the limitation of cost fixed by congress. The department asked steel makers through the department to submit before Wednesday of next week bids on 62,000,000 pounds of structural steel for these two ships, with statements of the earliest possible date at which they could make delivery to the government.

All private bids for these ships opened last week exceeded $8,000,000, while the limit fixed by congress was $7,800,000 for the cost of hulls and machinery. Navy yard estimates were below the $7,000,000 mark.

All the private bidders gave the increasing cost of structural steel and inability to obtain early delivery from the steel companies as factors in determining the amount of their bids and the time required for construction.

AN EXCELLENT SHOWING.

While a full statement upon the operation of the 1915 exposition of the Texas Cotton Palace is not yet available, the fact that the attendance exceeded that of 1914 by 20,000, and that in spite of very inclement weather on at least two special days that promised large attendance is an occasion for rejoicing among the friends of the exposition and congratulation to the directorate. Due to enlarged activity in behalf of the Cotton Palace, exerted through the publicity department, and the excellent co-operation of the papers of the state more people heard of the Cotton Palace this year than ever before and more about it, too, for the papers were exceedingly generous with their space.

The indications are that the cash income of this year will show a larger proportionate gain over that of last year than was exhibited by the attendance record. And it is established that the subscribers to the guarantee fund will not be called upon to redeem their pledges in behalf of the exposition.

Members of the board of directors, the secretary, the general manager of the woman's department, the woman's secretary, the various women's committees, and the other committees in charge of various features of the Cotton Palace are all entitled to congratulations upon the splendid showing made and thanks for their unselfish services. Following the winding up of the affairs of this year's show, it will be in order to begin the consideration of still larger things for 1916.

STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

Both in combining duties of certain offices, thus reducing expenses, and in placing the responsibility for the conduct of the water department of the city upon the shoulders of E. L. Fulkerson, the efficient secretary of the department, the water commission will enjoy the approval of the water consumers of Waco. The work which necessitated the naming of more men in the department was largely finished with the completion of the new city filtration plant and all will approve the policy of the commission that no needless offices be maintained.

Mr. Fulkerson, by reason of his long identification with the department and his marked ability as secretary, is peculiarly qualified to assume the additional duties that will devolve upon him by reason of the death of the late Sam Quay, as well as continue his present work, and there will be general approval of his election.

The Union Banner of Fort Worth announces that the local federation of labor has already begun its plans for observing Labor Day in 1916. We have something on them, all right, for we are not only planning for but are observing Labor Day every day in the year.

Time is a great leveler. Jim Moore, once lottery king of Chicago, drawing a salary of $20,000 per year and a commission on every ticket sold, is now working in a restaurant for $10 per week and his meals.

If Carranza can succeed in carrying out his proposed regulation of the liquor traffic as published in yesterday's papers, he ought to be able to subdue Villa.

Probably Billy Sunday postponed his visit to Dallas until 1917 on the basis that Dallas would need him more after having entertained the national democratic convention next year.

BUSINESS MEN IN POLITICS.

Our readers will recall that this paper has gone on record as being unalterably opposed to the efforts of certain interests in this state to control legislation and elections by attempting to subsidize certain organizations in the name of agriculture and to so disguise the publicity matter that was sent out as to deceive the unsuspecting editors who were glad to have good looking plate matter as "fillers."

But, on the other hand, there is a legitimate sphere in politics and legislation wherein business interests of the state and country may properly exert an influence and this sphere is the open forum and the press, where business men may discuss public measures with the people and explain to the people wherein legitimate business has rights that must be taken into consideration in the formulation of statutes and regulatory decrees. Had business men been as active as they might well have been in bringing the people to see the inherent rights of legitimate investments it would have been impossible for the politicians to arouse the suspicion and animosities that they have against business, and many of the blunders, both of the politicians and demagogues in the first place, and then of the business interests in trying to correct those errors, would have been obviated.

Speaking along this line, the Financial World says:
"Howard Elliott, who has acquired the reputation of being the New Haven railroad's life saver, without going so far as to assert that there are no good men in public life, hesitates not to express the opinion that there are too many men who have not had a good business training. This capable railroad man expressed this view in a speech made a few days ago before the business men composing the Winsted, Conn. Chamber of Commerce. In support of his statement Mr. Elliott cited the fact that the predominating majority of men in congress are lawyers, while nineteen of our presidents were disciples of Blackstone and nearly two-thirds of the members of presidential cabinets have walked in the steps of this profession."

"Where there are so many representatives of one of life's important professions it stands to reason that the natural bent of their minds is formulated in the particular train of thought in which they are trained. If lawyers predominate in the legislative councils of the nation and they wield the greater influence in the formation of our laws, it is not because they are endowed with a superior intelligence, but due to their general aptitude for placing themselves in readiness for the call of the people to represent and plead their cause in the chambers where the laws for the protection and betterment of society are enacted."

"This is a state of affairs for which business men are largely responsible. If they partook of a more intimate interest in politics, made greater sacrifices in behalf of the public weal, instead of devoting their talents to money getting, the predominance of one profession in the most important branch of the government would be considerably reduced and commerce and business would exercise a greater and more potent force in the making of our laws."

"But as long as this important work is left largely to the legal profession congress will be represented by the larger number of individuals who think they are fully conversant with the intricacies of business, though others may think otherwise."

"Business, too, will continue to believe it is harassed, though doing nothing to prevent it. Neglect of one of the most important functions of public life is alone responsible for this one-sided situation."

"We haven't read the account of that conference on the international bridge at Laredo yesterday as yet, but we can imagine that His Honor, Venustiano Carranza, said to His Excellency, James E. Ferguson, 'If you love me like I love you, no river can wash our love into,' or words to that effect."

A streamer of green and gold colors suspended in front of your home today, as well as your place of business, will be a greeting of welcome to the Baylor men and women here for their homecoming which will be appreciated by them and the Baylor people who live here as well.

You can save yourself a lot of wear and tear, to say nothing of the worry and burden to the clerks and the postmen, by doing your Christmas shopping early. And the early purchaser has the pick of the stocks.

Baylor begins the celebration of her seventieth anniversary today. Let's go out and assist in doing honor to the institution, the oldest seat of higher learning in Texas.

BEEF CATTLE ON HIGH-PRICED LAND.

On the big farm of Levi Seass in Moultrie county, Illinois, L. D. Seass and his father are doing what so many people talk about and so few have tackled in the last few years—breeding and finishing beef cattle. For at least two generations this farm has turned off its liberal annual quota of well finished steers for the Chicago markets. Some were bred on neighboring farms, and later the western ranges were depended upon for stock. As corn land grew in value, however, grazing land declined in acreage in Illinois. The west, too, has been drained of cattle. Now that this supply is failing, Seass, encouraged and assisted by his father, is again breeding cattle and feeding them out as baby beef.

A herd of about twenty-five high-grade Angus cows, a first-class, pure-bred Angus bull, all the year feeding and no pasture are the fundamentals of the Seass venture in breeding cattle for beef on $200-an-acre land, says F. L. Petty in Farm and Home. Corn and alfalfa furnish the feed. Two big silos make business possible, and in Mr. Seass' estimation, are primary requisites to possible success.

There is barn room for all the stock. The calves bred for beef are pushed constantly. Their dams are well fed and cared for and the calves are born strong, active and thrifty. A creep is arranged and very early in life they are encouraged to eat a little grain and alfalfa hay on their own account. Mr. Seass is not very strong for silage for young calves.

After the calves learn to eat a little they spend most of their time in their own pen, going out only at nursing time. They are allowed to suck until they are eight or nine months old. At weaning time they get a grain ration of five parts corn meal and one part oil meal, and for roughage are given silage and alfalfa leaves. From this on their progress into the fattening pen is rapid.

Those rumors that Dr. Brooks will drop out of the race for the United States senate were doubtless inspired by those who would like to see such a culmination. But Dr. Brooks has said repeatedly there is nothing to them and the people can believe what he says.

We are not in favor of a return to the era of the persecution, of course, but we shall shed no tears if the Baylor Bears should slaughter those Christians from Fort Worth on the Carroll gridiron tomorrow.

While many members of congress will doubtless strive diligently to preserve their neutrality, confidential advices from Washington are to the effect that war will probably be declared on oleo again.

If the allies and the central powers keep up their scrapping over Greece we are afraid there will soon be nothing left of the little kingdom but a few grease spots.

TALKING ABOUT THE COTTON PALACE

Most Successful Season.

(Temple Telegram.)
Waco Cotton Palace exposition closed after having experienced the most successful season in its history.

Cause for Rejoicing.

(Hillsboro Mirror.)
The 1915 Cotton Palace has passed into history and Waco has cause to rejoice with the management that it was so successful. He said to the honor of the directorate, they credit the attendance to the magnanimous and unstinted support of their city papers and the liberal endorsement by the press generally.

A State Institution.

(Houston Post.)
The Waco Cotton Palace, which closed Sunday night, was the most successful exposition in its history. This exposition through the indomitable enterprise and public spirit of the people of that progressive Central Texas city has justly won recognition as one of the state's big institutions and its permanence is assured. Its success the present year shows that the Texas people are enjoying reasonable prosperity despite the restrictions to its commerce growing out of the war in Europe.

Cotton Palace Big Success.

(Fort Worth Record.)
Waco is proud of its big show. The doors of the Cotton Palace closed Sunday night and it was the most successful exposition in its history. As to attendance, all previous records were broken. Sightseers attended from all parts of the southwest. Governor Ferguson and many of the leading men of Texas were among the visitors and all cheerfully accorded to the Cotton Palace the honor of being second to none in the exposition line in this country.

As usual, Walter Vail Crawford did himself proud and won golden emblems. He is a master builder and an executive genius.
President Asher S. Sanger is planning for the Cotton Palace of 1916. These plans include an enlargement of the agricultural and livestock buildings, while all other departments will be added to in order to keep pace with the growth and development of Texas. It is announced that all the prominent exhibitors have asked for larger space next year. Waco is to be congratulated, and the very progressive men who direct the Cotton Palace are to be congratulated. There are hundreds of live wires in the bustling city on the banks of the Brazos.

Texas Railroads Will Not Change Interstate Rates

By The Associated Press.

Galveston, Nov. 23.—The application of interstate rates on re-consigned shipments from the Atlantic seaboard through Galveston to points in Texas, which was to have become effective Dec. 1, has been indefinitely postponed. The decision to this effect was reached yesterday at a conference of Texas railroads held in Houston. The rates which it was proposed to put into effect Dec. 1 had been filed with the interstate commerce commission, but new tariffs were to have been filed shortly.

State Buys Another Farm.

By The Associated Press.
Austin, Nov. 23.—For the sum of $13 an acre, the state has acquired, subject to approval by the prison commission, 1,200 acres of land in Bowie county adjoining the present Shaw farm, owned and operated by the prison commission. The deal has been closed between Governor Ferguson and N. A. Shaw, subject to ratification. The low price of $15.60 was secured because of a contract provision in the original purchase bill which allowed the state to sell back to Shaw the farm it has been operating.

W. F. Doughty, superintendent of education, recently announced the action of the board in allowing payment of this amount to meet expenses incurred during the last fiscal year by school districts of counties, cities, towns and independent school districts. Treasurer Edwards has asked for the opinion before payment shall be allowed.

Dr. A. J. Barton Slightly Improved, Report from Dallas

A slight improvement in the condition of Dr. A. J. Barton, superintendent of the National Anti-Saloon league, who is seriously ill with typhoid fever in the Baptist sanitarium at Dallas, was reported last night by Dr. R. J. Alexander of this city, after making a trip to the bedside of the patient yesterday. Dr. Barton's fever was slightly lower, but he was still unconscious and a very sick man, said Dr. Alexander, the family physician. Dr. Alexander, who has headquarters in Dallas but whose home still remains in this city, has been ill for several days and his recovery has almost been despaired of at times. It is the opinion of Dr. Alexander after yesterday's visit, that the patient will recover unless complications set in.

Engine Company Has Thanksgiving Dinner

Thanksgiving atmosphere made its initial appearance last night in the informal dinner given by Hose Company No. 2 of East Waco, when the company invited several of the members and friends to enjoy the best substitute known for the gobbler. The substitute is even claimed to be better than the original by many and in the absence of the bird the wild duck graced the table and satisfied the inner man to perfection, especially this so when all the accessories which a fire company could think of were added, as was the cast last night, added to which was string music and other good things.

The invited guest list made up a jolly crowd and one which were thoroughly happy—or miserable—when the occasion came to the time of making part in the repast were Messrs. John Dollins, Chief Bauerle, J. J. Fuchs, first assistant chief; Charles Peterson, second assistant chief; Dr. M. B. Sanders, J. N. Rush, M. E. Wilkins, Frank Cox and a number of firemen from the other companies.

Bids Wanted. Sealed proposals addressed to the Board of Commissioners will be received till 10 a. m. November 25, 1915, for furnishing all labor and material for the erection and completion of a one-story concrete and frame building.

Plans and specifications and other information can be had at the office of Building Inspector at city hall. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

You Can't Brush or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

PICK-UPS FROM THE HOTELS AND PUBLIC PLACES.

Col. Sam L. Long, one-time scout, ranger, revolutionist, doctor, lecturer, lawyer, jurist and author, arrived in Waco yesterday from Kansas City, and is registered at the New State House. He is here to appear as an associate counsel of Pat Neff, in the case of the state against Dr. G. C. Lemley, chiropractor, charged in the county court with practicing medicine without a license. Colonel Long is general counsel for the International Chiropractic association.

Probably there is no more picturesque and variedly experienced man in the entire country than Colonel Long. His scenic effects might either suggest a ball room favorite, a post-graduate of the plains or an insurrectionist. If it were not known that Carranza yesterday was consorting with Governor Ferguson at the international bridge at Laredo, it would have been the easiest thing in the world to mistake Colonel Long for Mexico's most distinguished constitutionalist. Also, if Colonel Long's beard was slightly more retund at the center and more abruptly squared at the base, he could successfully pose as J. Ham Lewis, the Beau Brummel of the United States. And to carry the "dead-ringer" parallel further, it may be remarked that if Colonel Long should pour a small quantity of powder on his profuse hair, scalp, facial and chin, decorations, he wouldn't need to buy a spate of white ponies and parade at the head of a circus band to be mistaken for William F. Cody, alias Buffalo Bill.

The fact that he has an appearance all his own, except such encroachments and imitations as have been made by the Lewis-Carranza-Cody contingent, and has had an experience that would be the delight of the original Nick Carter, he is as other men, versatile, a better conversationalist, somewhat of an intellectual, more resourceful and decidedly more respectful to the rules of politeness.

He began his career in a Virginia cradle and secured his education in a Virginia university, the same university that produced "Red" and Lon Stephens of Missouri and Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. He came to Texas nearly forty years ago and finding clients as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth, he became a lawyer, and later a rancher. Later he went into Nicaragua and Honduras and assisted Pizarro de Alarid to stage a revolution against the government of Sanchez Mandez. That was in 1882. Following this experience, he practiced medicine among the Mexicans for a few years.

Tiring of Central America, Colonel Long returned to Texas and began practicing law in Dallas and later at El Paso. From El Paso he wandered into the northwest and attached himself as one of the stars of a lyceum bureau and lectured upon the relative merits of the Sadducees and Ishmaelites or any other subject that might suggest itself, provided it was susceptible of allopathic doses of fact and fancy, entertainingly proportioned.

Lecturing palled, so he went into Kansas, where Hadrian's assassinations of some character always are in progress. He located at Winfield, Cowley county, a democratic bullwink, and democratic bullwinks are lamentably few in Kansas. That was in 1896. During the same year the regular district judge died and Gov. John Leedy appointed him to fill the unexpired term. He later served a term each in the house and senate of the state legislature. Among his personal friends during his Kansas invasion were Governor Arthur Capper, Topeka; Col. Franklin Burris and Victor Murdock, Wichita; Judge John C. Pollock, J. Francis Padley, William Allen White and others of a fame that has broken over the Kansas boundary lines.

Being judge and senator and representative didn't long appeal to Colonel Long. He recognized the fact that every county has whole regiments of judges and lawmakers and other public office folk. He quit Kansas, in consequence, and went to Alton, Ill., to practice law. From Alton he returned west and has since been in Kansas City.

That's a brief summary of his career. The details would be startling and, if related, in first-class shape, would be genuinely thrilling. He has fourteen wounds in various parts of his anatomy; he has been jailed as a spy and compelled to ask British aid to escape death; he has battled with ordinary border thieves of the Greaser genus and the higher-regined bands of American vintage infesting the Rio Grande country. He has seen and associated with every element of citizenship from the domiciles of the plutocrat to the rendezvous of the fugitive. But—

Small wonder, he is the entire attraction in hotel, railroad station, church, hall or elsewhere. Besides, he doesn't especially sidestep any opportunity to let himself occupy the calcium. His abundant scenery—the unique tailoring of his whiskers, mustaches and topmost attachment, his long Prince Albert coat, wide-brimmed hat, black string necktie, deep, basso profundo voice and other embellishments tend to entice the passerby to linger and look.

Colonel Long, as a further accomplishment, is the author of a book of poems, numerous tracts and papers and other literary productions. He will be in Waco during the remainder of the week.

TO OBSERVE ELECTRICAL PROSPERITY WEEK HERE

SPECIAL ILLUMINATIONS AND EDUCATIONAL FEATURES ON PROGRAM.

Lectures to School Children on Uses of Electricity and Movies on Electricity Arranged.

Waco will take her place as a unit in the nation-wide celebration of Electrical Prosperity Week, November 23 to December 4, according to plans being made by local officials of the Texas Power & Light company and electrical supply houses and other persons interested. Special features of illumination and decoration and a variety of educational features will be a part of the celebration. Street decorations and illumination for the Cotton Palace will be kept in place for use during Electrical Prosperity week. The Texas Power & Light company has arranged an elaborate plan of illumination in honor of the occasion. The building occupied by the company's general offices on South Sixth street will be illuminated on a comprehensive scale, as well as the entire block in which the offices are located. Handsome displays of electrical fixtures and appliances will be arranged in all electrical supply houses of the city.

A number of educational moving picture films dealing with the various phases of electricity, its development and uses, have been obtained through the efforts of local electrical men and will be shown in local moving picture theatres during the week. Another educational feature which has been arranged is a series of short lectures to school children on the modern uses of electricity. A competent speaker will be obtained to deliver the series of lectures, arrangements for which have already been made with the school authorities.

The national scope of the movement to observe Electrical Prosperity week is shown by the fact that Collier's Weekly devoted its entire last issue to a presentation of the observance from every conceivable angle. Two whole pages of the number were devoted to short notes of the celebration in various cities of the country, including Waco. It is considered by electrical men a happy coincidence that the nature of a community prosperity celebration has been set for Tuesday, which is the second day of Electrical Prosperity week.

Special Low Rates to San Antonio and Austin This Week

J. W. Byars, division passenger agent for the I. & G. N., has announced especially low rates during certain days this week for Austin and San Antonio. The round trip to Austin is but $2.50 and to San Antonio only $4.50. It probably is the lowest rate ever put on between Waco and those two cities. The attraction at Austin is the Thanksgiving football game between the University of Texas and Notre Dame (Indiana) college. San Antonio is preparing to stage a two days' song festival.

Engine Co. No. 3 Plans Grand Ball for Thanksgiving

The Thanksgiving ball of engine company No. 3 will be a gay social event among the firemen and their friends in the Maennerchor hall tomorrow night. Committees on arrangement have been busy this week looking after the details for the annual ball. Tickets are now being sold for 50c, ladies being admitted free. Decorations and music and all the other accoutrements of a merry evening are receiving the careful attention of the committee members. The ball promises to be largely attended.

Farming Is Subject "Safe-Sane" Slogan

J. L. Quicksall, district agent of the federal department of agriculture for Central West Texas, is at home here at St. Louis, where last week he attended a conference of directors of extension service in the various states, and state and district agents of the federal department of agriculture. The conference was addressed by Mr. Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture; Dr. Bradford Knapp, son of the late Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, originator of the Boys' Corn Club proposition; and Bailey, a distinguished Canadian authority upon agriculture, and others. All of them stressed the demonstration work as it is being carried on by the federal department, and plans were laid for making the work still more effective than it has been in the past.

One central object in mind now is to encourage the men on the farm to follow what has come to be termed "safe and sane" farming and instructions as to how this can be done are being issued in detail to all farmers interested.

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs

(Beauty Notes)
Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing a little water with some powdered delatone; after about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment, be careful to get real delatone.

County Attorney Advised Smith Not to Shoot Campbell

Admission that County Attorney John B. McNamara had advised him not to shoot G. W. Campbell was made yesterday afternoon by A. D. Smith, on trial for murder in connection with the killing of Campbell last April. Smith held one of his small children on his lap while testifying. The state introduced several witnesses concerning the shooting and rested. Only one witness was used by the defense before Smith himself took the stand. It is expected that the case will go to the jury some time today.

A. L. McCoy, secretary of the Fort Worth Automobile club, and Hugh Lewis, Jr., of Fort Worth, passed through Waco yesterday afternoon en route to Temple, where they will attend the meeting of the Texas division of the Meridian Highway association. Bible Best Basis Philosophy of Life

Young Men Find in Christian Religion Surest Guarantee of Success, Declares "Y" Lecturer.

It is impossible for a young man to attain the highest success in life without embodying in his life that philosophy that is gathered from a study of the Bible, declared James A. Whitmore of New York, prominent in Y. M. C. A. and church work, who addressed the men's Bible class of the Y. M. C. A. and others interested in Bible study at the Y. M. C. A. last night. He stopped off here en route to Austin, where he will address the Older Boys' conference of the Texas Y. M. C. A. Emphasizing some of the points why a young man should embrace that philosophy of life that has its foundation in the Bible, Mr. Whitmore declared that it was good business and would prove a winner, that it was the only philosophy that would make a man a worth-while citizen, and it is the normal path of God for man. Then a conscientious study of the Bible will enable a young man to believe in himself, will help him to believe in somebody else, and will bring him to see that the life of service is the only life that is really profitable in the true sense.

More than 125,000 young men in the United States are engaged in the systematic study of the Bible under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., the speaker said, and of the number 100,000 are pursuing that course because they have found that a knowledge of the Bible and following its teachings make one more efficient in the race of life. A philosophy of life that is founded upon the Bible is one that will not break down, he continued, pointing out that one of the great tragedies of life consisted in a man running well for a season, only to give way when the crucial test came in middle life when a man should really be at his highest efficiency and usefulness.

Digressing to give a few observations upon the work of the Y. M. C. A. in a general way, Mr. Whitmore said that it achieved its great success and found a ready response everywhere from the fact that it employed a scientific plan in its work, seeks to meet the real needs of red-blooded, normal, aspiring young men; it believes in a man and his value, and has said with vigor and earnestness that no young man is safe unless he has Jesus Christ in his life.

Mr. Whitmore was accompanied on his stop-off here by L. A. Coulter, district secretary, and will be accompanied from here to Austin by the local officials of the Y. M. C. A. and the Waco delegation. He is a very vigorous speaker and was congratulated on his message by those who heard him last night.

500 Extra Seats for Football Game

In order to accommodate as many of the spectators of tomorrow's football game between Baylor and Texas Christian university as possible, 500 chairs have been placed on the ground in front of the big grandstand. These chairs will be sold at $1.50 each, including the general admission to the grounds. They are considered better seats than the grandstand, inasmuch as they are nearer the field. Seats in the grandstand for tomorrow's game are selling at $1.25.

Tickets were placed on sale yesterday morning at the Amicable cigar stand and the Baylor Book Concern and found a ready sale. The game will be played at 3 o'clock and promises to prove decidedly the most interesting local contest of the year. The T. C. U. team comes down on a special train of students and will return in the same manner. This, together with the fact that Baylor has her homecoming on, will make it impracticable to show the visiting team any social courtesies.

U. S. Needs Greater Defense Program, Says T. N. G. Officer

In the judgment of Capt. D. K. Lansing, Second Texas Infantry and connected with the Texas Military academy in San Antonio, President Wilson's "preparedness" policy is all right, only it doesn't call for a sufficient number of men—a half million in the standing army and proportionate increase in all the divisions of the navy would be more logical. Captain Lansing arrived yesterday in the interest of the academy and is stopping at the Metropole.

"In my opinion congress is going to make such appropriations as President Wilson may suggest," said Captain Lansing. "The president has the correct idea of the necessity for a greater defense. The only trouble with his policy, as I see it, is that he fails to go far enough. A half million men in the standing army and ample ships of every character in the navy would be much better. That the United States must take an increasing part in the affairs of the world is inevitable. To do that and exercise any considerable influence it will be necessary to show something more than a mere disposition to be fair—it will be necessary, mayhap, to have tangible proof that it can enforce fairness."

Captain Lansing is making a campaign for greater efficiency in all departments of the Texas National guard. To do that, he has offered a scholarship amounting to about $300 each, to one member of each company, troop and battery. In this way, it is hoped to awaken an enthusiasm in military efficiency and at the same time cause it to be stationed at least one of the departments of the national guard. He is finding a satisfactory response to his suggestion from national guard officials.

BAYLOR AND T. C. U. GAME HAS ALWAYS BEEN HARD FOUGHT

Baylor and T. C. U. first "crossed swords" in 1901. From then until 1910 the teams met twice a year some years and three times a year some other years. The triple battles occurred during 1905, 1907, 1908, and 1909. Of the engagements Baylor has won 16 and T. C. U. 8 games. And always the score has been fairly close. During the first year of the classic in 1901 Baylor being the older University, ran over her rivals for comparatively big scores, and again in 1910, with an all-state champion team, Baylor defeated the Texans 52 to 0. But all the other twenty-one games have been hair-raisingly fought right out to the last minute of play. A record of the games, with the scores, follows:

| Year | Baylor | T.C.U. |
| 1901 | 26 | 0 |
| 1902 | 42 | 0 |
| 1903 | 20 | 0 |
| 1904 | 12 | 0 |
| 1905 | 0 | 5 |
| 1906 | 10 | 17 |
| 1907 | 6 | 6 |
| 1908 | 10 | 9 |
| 1909 | 0 | 15 |
| 1910 | 52 | 0 |
| 1911 | 23 | 8 |
| 1912 | 0 | 22 |
| 1913 | 28 | 14 |

Thanksgiving Golf Tournament to Be Held at Huaco Club

The annual Thanksgiving golf tournament will be held at the Huaco club on Thursday, and will consist of an 18-hole medal play handicap tournament for the medal play championship of the club. The contest will be for the president's cup, a handsome trophy presented by E. R. Bolton the first year of the club's history. It is a beautiful trophy and the winner will have the distinction of having his name engraved thereon. An additional prize will be given both the winner and the player making the second lowest net score.

Big Yell Practice Is Held at Baylor

Yell practice was held yesterday in the big Carroll Field and the same number of new sons were tried out. Baylor looks for the biggest yell squad of the season at the game Thursday and Friday. It is a number of them will take charge during different periods of the play. Yell practice turned into a speech-making contest at the end. The students insisted on different members of the alumni who were present making at least a few remarks. The students of the field lined up while the coaches demonstrated plays. The grandstand was half full of enthusiastic yellsters, while a fringe of older men and women had but to close their eyes to be wafted back to the days when they themselves were the youngsters—only there wasn't any big concrete grandstand in those days and there were never four teams on one field in Baylor's fours.

Among those who gave short talks were R. W. ("Bob") Leazer of Whitesboro; B. Holt of Jacksonville and Mike Matthews of Mart.

WILLIE HOPPE RETAINS TITLE.

By The Associated Press. New York, Nov. 23.—Willie Hoppe had no trouble tonight in defending his title as balk line billiard champion against Velker Cochran, the young Iowa, in the deciding contest of the 18-2 handicap billiard tournament. Cochran was defeated 500 to 218, his handicap being 200 points.

Hoppe made victory sure in the second inning, when he ran up 308 points out of a break, for the record high run of the tournament. Hoppe's average was 55.9. Cochran's high run was 79 and his average 22.8.

The contestants finished in this order: Hoppe, Cochran, George Sutton, George Sloan, Koll Yamada and Joseph Mayer. Hoppe won all his five games and Mayer lost his five.

Three Baylor Men on All-Star Team Picked by Ruggles

Baylor landed three men on William B. Ruggles' all-star team. Mr. Ruggles, sporting editor of the Houston Post, admits his is only a tentative or a suggested team, and further admits that it will probably meet with criticism from some of the football sharks—but at that it isn't far wrong.

Mr. Ruggles also admits that every man on the Baylor team is of all-state material. He says: "When Texas state coaches begin to figure on All-State teams after the season is over, they will experience greater difficulty than in either of the past two years. Then, it was easy to wade through the list of Longhorn players and name a team from almost its own composition. But not so this year. The T. I. A. A. championship of 1915 has contributed many brilliant players to the unsettled season of upset and quindary and to select an eleven representing positively the best material of the year will require a good deal of thought."

Isaacs Will Be Out of Game Thursday

Baylor will go into the T. C. U. game Thursday without the service of "Big Ed" Isaacs. The veteran center played a few minutes during the last quarter of the game with Daniel Baker last Saturday, when he took stock later found that he had broken his collar bone and ended his football career. This is a hard luck for the big fellow, well known to the Baylor team, and if he could have shown the form he has displayed all year he should have pulled down the position of all-state center. His absence may have a bearing on his standing in the all-state lineup.

He that as it may, his absence will be a blow to the Baylor team, because of the steadiness imparted to a line by a man of four years' university football experience. Thomas is a corking good center as long as he confines his activities to football, and will possibly some day be a candidate for all-state honors. It is if he continues to play the steady game he has shown during his last two years. But in case the big center does kick over the traces, he would be a loss to the team. Turner, the experienced center, will not be started in his regular position, it is thought. Nigro going into the line while Turner will be kept back for possible accidents to the center position. Nigro has been showing well in the line.

Only light signal practice was run on Carroll field yesterday. The Bears have been so unlicked by scrimmage that it was ruled against. Scrimmage at Baylor has been disastrous one reason because of the high quality of the second team. In fact, when Bob Leazer, the famous halfback on the 1910 champions, walked on the field yesterday he asked Student Manager Harrell which was the first team.

KNOWING WHEN YOU'RE LOVED

Dr. Tull Explains How This May Be Done in Sermon at Columbus Street Church.

A splendid crowd was present at the revival services at the Columbus Street Baptist church last night. The singing was the best yet, everybody taking part and making the songs ring out in volume and power. Singer Cumbe sang for a solo Ackley's great hymn, "So May You." If you will come and hear the preaching and singing you will come again.

Dr. Tull spoke on "How May I Know I Am Saved?" He said in part: "My friends, this issue of our knowing that we are saved is a vital question and we should be sure and settled in this matter. If there is one here who is unsettled and questioning, I can help you. There are others who are saved and yet do not fully realize it. I want to also help you. The inheritance of a Christian is when he comes into the certain knowledge that Christ is his Savior. "If salvation is anything it is spiritual. Nothing can bring about spirituality except God's Spirit. The first thing the Spirit does is to convict of sin. Man does not and can not know he is lost until God's Holy Spirit hakes it known to him. When I stand here and see some hard-hearted, sinful, wayward man come down in the night and weeping in the night and it seemed you would die if light did not come. Then the blessed light came and you rejoiced. For three long years I groped in darkness, seeking God's face, and when finally I found the light I rejoiced and resolved to tell the world of the glory of salvation. O! how can I ever forget that hour! My friends, if you have ever passed through such an experience you know whether or not you are saved."

CLEANSE THE BLOOD BANISH RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism Due to Bad Blood. S. S. S. Your Remedy.

Thousands have been made well. People in the poorest health, suffering from Rheumatism, with whom pain was constant. Who believed that their vitality was sapped beyond repair. It was proven to them that the cause of their trouble was the blood; that Uric Acid, the most faithful ally of Rheumatism, had gripped them. The poison in the blood had sapped its strength. The weakened blood had allowed poison and impurities to accumulate, and all energy was gone. They felt "poorly" were listless, pain was ever present. They gave up drugs. This compound of nature's remedies of roots and herbs did what drugs failed to do. It literally washed the blood free from poison, and with the flow of pure blood came back health, strength, vigor and happiness. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. Insist upon S. S. S. "Regeneration."

Coming to the Rex today in response to public demand is the magnificent production "Regeneration," doubtless the most heart-grIPPING story of slum life ever filmed, and presented on the splendid scale which is typical of the William Fox production. The popular emotional actress, Anna Q. Nilsson, whose characterization in this picture holds a peculiar appeal, is seen at her best, while the support of Rockcliffe Fellows is splendid. It is a picture calculated to be inspiring and uplifting and that it succeeds in its calculations no one seeing it can deny.

"Chimmie Fadden."

So great was the success of Victor Moore in the Jesse Lasky production of "Chimmie Fadden" that the company secured Mr. Moore's services for a long term of years for a series of stories founded on the adventures of the same character.

Cecil B. DeMille, director general of the Lasky company, has felt for some time that the public would appreciate high-class comedy on the screen; that as many laughs could be secured in this kind of comedy as could be obtained by the slapstick methods. With this aim in view, he produced the first "Chimmie Fadden" picture. Instantaneous was its success. The public, surfeited with the slapstick order of fun, received quickly to the new type of humor and credited Victor Moore as "Chimmie Fadden" with being the funniest man ever seen on the screen. Mr. Moore's fun was obtained not by grotesque make-up or a freakish walk but by cleverly constructed situations and the methods of legitimate comedy.

The first of the series of "Chimmie Fadden" stories in which Mr. Moore is to appear is entitled "Chimmie Out West" and shows the Bowers Boy hero in the wilds of Death Valley finding a gold mine and returning east supposedly a millionaire.

The same cast which supported Mr. Moore in the first "Chimmie Fadden" story, will be retained for the series and includes such prominent artists as Camille Astor, Raymond Hatton, Mrs. Lewis McFord, Tom Forman, Anita King, Ernest Joy, Florence Wagner and other members of the Lasky all-star organization. Coming to the Rex Friday and Saturday.

"Inspiration."

The classic tale of Pygmalion and the statue, Galatea, which he first fashioned with his own hands, then grew to love, and at length persuaded the gods to imbue with the breath of life, has been the subject for the art of countless poets, of artists and of sculptors, even of modern playwrights, who have garbed its ancient beauty in modern atmosphere and characterizations—frequently with modern satire. Its theme was the underlying theme for the play "Pygmalion" by Bernard Shaw, presented in the United States last season by Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

Under the title "Inspiration," the ever interesting tale has come to life again in a motion picture, a Mutual Masterpiece, which has been produced by the Thanhouser company, and will be released through the Mutual Film corporation on November 18. But instead of being located in ancient Greece, where the gods appeared in visible forms to the people of earth, the setting for "Inspiration" is laid in New York—the New York of today, brilliant, gas, fascinating.

It is in New York's Bohemia, among its artists, and the tale is of an American girl who became a famous artist's model. This is the story, as told on the screen: In the presence of a group of his wealthy young friends—the type of men who find the freedom and unconventionality of Bohemia much to their tastes—a young sculptor remarked that he needed only one thing to make of the statue on which he was working the achievement of his career.

"And that is?" queried one of the youths, evidencing unusual interest in the artist's work.

"A model—the sort of a model such as I have only dreamed of. But there is none such. She would have to be my inspiration, as well as a perfect creature whose grace of body and beauty of face would be the ideal for which I must strive in my work. I am doomed to eternal disappointment."

Several days later the young artist and his friend were members of a motor party. As they drove through the triumphal arch in Washington square, they ran down a girl, a very pathetic, unhappy-looking little girl, with large brown eyes and blanched features. As she was struck she crumpled in a heap on the pavement. The men picked her up. She came to herself, and stared at them in wild confusion.

"Let us take you home," said one, kindly.

"No, no," she answered, half-hysterically, "I cannot go home. I must find work today. I will lose my room if I do not."

The man had an inspiration. He bundled her into the car, then drove her hastily to the studio of the sculptor. The artist was at work with a chorus girl model—one of the many which his rich young friends had sent to him, in their desire to help him attain his ideal. He did not enquire over the newcomer.

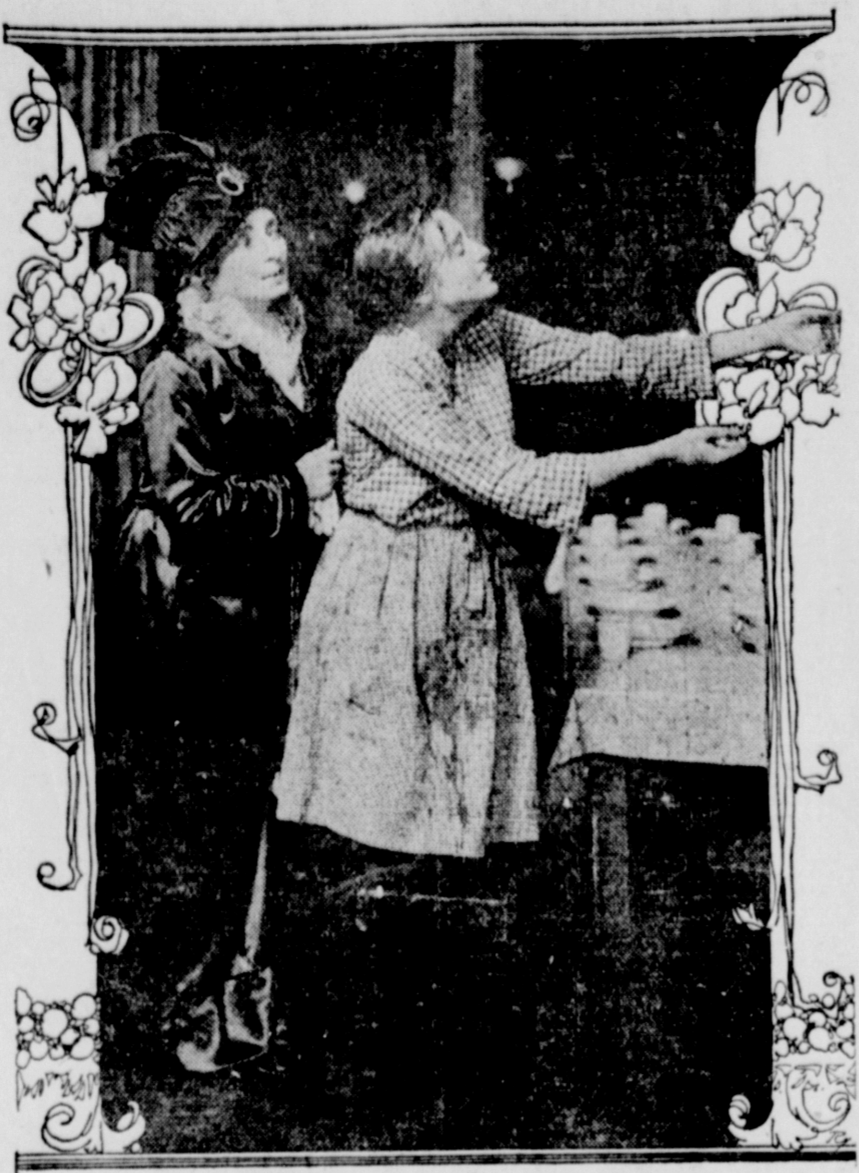

"She can't be worse than I have," he told his friends aside, and so he promised to try her.

When the crumpled, brown-eyed girl, with a new light in her eyes—brought by the fact that she at last had work—took her position on the modeling stand of the young sculptor, the next day, she unconsciously fell into the pose of the girl of his dreams.

Daily the rough clay grew into a work of great art. The hours passed like minutes. The fame of the new model grew. At first she would not accept other offers. She was happy only when posing for the young sculptor—whom, known only to herself, she had grown to love. He urged her to, and at length, grown unhappy, because she thought her sculptor loved one of the wealthy girls who came often to his studio, she consented.

Her first pose was for the statue of "Evangeline," by Daniel Chester French, which has been placed before the home of the immortal Longfellow in Cambridge, Mass. There followed many more poses by other famous artists. Then came orders to the members of the artists' colony to make pictures and statuary in time between posing for the "Ascending Night" of Adolph Weinman, the figures of "The Fountain of Eldorado" by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the "Genius of Creation" by Daniel Chester French, the "Court of Four Seasons" and the "Spirit model in "Inspiration" is the story of Audrey Munson, the famous model, who herself plays the role. She is known as the "Panama-Pacific girl."

tility a weakling's struggle to become a man, and his success, is a Griffith release that is typical of that great master director. It deals with a young society for who wakes to a realization of his despicable character when the one girl whom he loves makes up her mind to marry him. The girl also goes to Arizona, but with a house party of which a young westerner is host. An aviator whom the host has employed for the amusement of his guests, becomes lost in the desert and when the party goes in search the girl is captured by a band of marauding Indians who attack the party. As it happens, the same band of Indians have captured the Lamb and the aviator. The girl and the boy see the aviator brutally murdered by the savages and resolve to fight for their lives. Single-handed and with only one rapid-fire gun and a long range rifle they keep the savages at bay until rescued by the United States cavalry.

"Fickle Fatty's Fall."

Fat, good-natured Roscoe Arbuckle is right in his native element playing the part of the fat boy husband in "Fickle Fatty's Fall," a killing Triangle-Keystone comedy, to appear at the Hippodrome with "The Lamb." The enticing maid, Ivy Crosthwaite, sets the household in confusion. There is first a disturbance in the kitchen, caused by the cook and the butcher boy clashing over their claims to the girl. Arbuckle is sent to the front on this occasion by the mother-in-law. He routs the contenders and turns to the maid. The jealous wife chases the maid away and Fatty has to cook and wait on the table. Then he mixes it up with one of the guests, a sort of a musical lion.

Fatty next meets the maid on the street and takes her to a swimming pool. They have a jolly time flirting and diving, but are interrupted by the butcher boy. Then Fatty sees with a long face his wife and mother-in-law. He and the maid quickly get into street costume and race away from the place in a motor chair, pursued in the same way by the wife and mother-in-law. The mother-in-law gets out to repair the engine, which is stalled. The car runs away and the wife goes with it off the pier. Fatty rescues the wife. His wife wants him to rescue the mother-in-law, who has fallen into the water. Fatty finds the life preserver locked and instead throws her an anchor. Four jumps come motorizing up and the pier before they can stop the machine. With tires around their necks they rescue the mother-in-law. There is a happy ending, with the reconciliation of the contenders and the reunion of the butcher boy and the maid.

and it all goes at top speed. The way the acrobats throw things, hit each other and fall downstairs adds all kinds of thrills. Lacerating effects are caused by the flattening of a vegetable or a cake across their faces.

QUEEN.

The World Film corporation presents the five-part photoplay "Bought," at the Queen today and tomorrow, in which a story of a somewhat unusual character is presented. Audiences probably will appreciate the problem of the play, for it is offered a proposition that possibly few individuals in his plight would turn down. He is in debt to his landlady and the magazines reject his writings with a unanimity that is unpleasant. Suddenly there appears to him a woman commissioned to find a husband for a wealthy girl who has loved not wisely but too well. The father of the girl has gone down on the Titanic before he could carry out his intention of marrying the girl.

The girl's name must be saved. Would the literary man marry her for a consideration and a desk in the lady's father's office? The wife would not do that. So they were married; the child died.

There was no love lost between wife and husband, and the latter's stepfather disliked him. The wife prefers the society of other men.

Yet out of this distressing imbroglio the director of the picture has extracted a very happy ending, which, however, is not reached before some dramatic incidents are revealed in the development of the play.

"The Eternal City."

AUDITORIUM.

"Damaged Goods." One of the most remarkable tributes paid to "Damaged Goods" and Richard Bennett's Co-Workers, came in the form of an attack followed by laudation. When this remarkable play was announced for production in Boston, the Evening Record of that city, prior to the first performance, published the following editorial comment:

"There is much free discussion of the play called 'Damaged Goods.' It is a nasty play, offered on a commercial basis to catch the dollars of those who like to wallow in filth and it will presumably be commercially successful."

After the first performance the Record said:

The Expense of Securing This Feature is Something Terrific

It is sensational only in being frank. It is never indecent and it never lies.

"Damaged Goods" will play at the Auditorium next Thursday matinee and night.

"Daddy Long Legs."

Jean Webster, the author of "Daddy Long-Legs," during the long run of the comedy at the Gaiety theatre, New York, sat through a performance of her play and kept score on the number of laughs in its four acts. In the first act Miss Webster found her audience laughing twenty-six times. In the second act over one hundred laughs were registered. In the third act there were twenty-four and in the last act eighteen. In the entire play there are over 150 lines and situations at which the audience usually laughs. Henry Miller will present "Daddy Long-Legs" here at the Auditorium theatre on Saturday night, November 27.

Thanksgiving Service at Provident Heights

Members of the Provident Heights Baptist church congregation will hold Thanksgiving services at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. The pastor and congregation later will attend the union services of the entire citizenship of Waco, at the Columbus Street Baptist church.

Rev. Dr. H. H. Street, pastor at Provident Heights, will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon. His subject will be "Preparedness." It is explained, however, that Dr. Street's subject is not intended to refer to President Wilson's recently announced policy for the United States army and navy—it will deal entirely with the spiritual realm.

As a part of the services, an especially prepared music program will be given. The choir will be led by Prof. Harry Paine. Every one, particularly strangers in the city, are invited to attend.

This week's offering of the new Triangle pictures showing at the Hippodrome today and Thanksgiving day, will prove beyond a doubt all the claims of excellence that have been made for these unsurpassable features. The story of the dramas are in themselves gripping, thrilling, throbbing and at times heart-breaking; the kind of stories that people laugh over, grow hot with indignation at the reading of, sob over, and turn the last pages lingeringly, loathe to finish it even while burning with desire to know "how it will end." The comedies of the Triangle program are of the clean, snappy, fast and furious sort that keep one's tickle box upside down from the opening flash to the last.

Stamp Tax Required for Each Signature to Poll Tax Orders

Orders given by persons residing outside of the city for the payment of poll taxes must bear a 25c stamp tax, according to instructions received yesterday by Tax Collector Lee Davis from A. S. Walker, United States collector of internal revenue at Austin. The order also held that where more than one name is signed to the order the 25c tax is required for each signature.

Mr. Davis was notified by a representative of the internal revenue department yesterday that if he recognized poll tax orders without that 25c stamp he would be liable to prosecution. The Texas election law permits persons living outside the county seat to pay their poll tax without appearing in person at the tax collector's office by sending an order either by another person or by mail, accompanied by the amount of the tax. The order of the internal revenue collector, therefore, will only affect payment of poll taxes by persons living outside of Waco, many of whom have heretofore taken advantage of this provision of the election law to save a trip to Waco in person.

Waco Progressive City Says St. Louis Banker

"During the last sixty days, business conditions in the southwest and along the Pacific have displayed a decided improvement. All alarms of European complications have disappeared, the probability of an enforced invasion of the southern republic has become encouragingly remote and crop and other conditions have tended to lend stability to markets and give a better and more substantial tone to business generally."

That was the statement of J. F. Ballard, director of the Mechanics American bank, St. Louis, former director of the Orient railroad, and otherwise prominent in the commercial, particularly the financial, life of the Missouri metropolis, who was here yesterday. Mr. Ballard was en route home from an extended trip through the west and stopped over between trains to visit with Col. W. W. Seely and Dr. W. B. Morrison. He left last night for Dallas, Kansas City and St. Louis.

"I am unable to forecast the future of the Orient," continued Mr. Ballard. "It is probable the best improvement will be the construction of the East Kansas line, filling in the gap between Kansas City, Wichita and Emporia. This line already has been surveyed and material distributed along the route. The Orient traverses a rich, productive country, and is certain to become a great railroad system."

"I am told by Colonel Seely, and I can observe for myself, that Waco is moving right along. I understand the business men composing the Cotton Palace association have just finished another record-breaking exposition, displaying the wealth and farm possibilities of Central Texas. There is no reason why Waco with its magnificent location, its rich, fertile, productive trade area, and its co-operative and progressive business element, should not continue to grow and become one of the really live and important commercial centers of the greater southwest."

WHOLE CITY INVITED TO JOIN RECEPTION TO BAYLOR VISITORS

CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE ON RECEIVING URGES FULL CO-OPERATION.

To the Waco Morning News:

As general chairman of the homecoming reception committee, I hereby request that all Baylor men and women now living in the city, especially, and all of our citizens generally, unite in giving a welcome to the old students who are returning for our homecoming celebration. This is the anniversary of Baylor university we should do our best to show proper courtesy to those early founders and to those who labored so faithfully in the earlier years of the institution, many of them almost without compensation. We are thankful to the business men for their co-operation in decorating their places of business, and we think it especially proper that on this seventeenth anniversary of Baylor university we should do our best to show proper courtesy to those early founders and to those who labored so faithfully in the earlier years of the institution, many of them almost without compensation. We are thankful to the business men for their co-operation in decorating their places of business, and we think it especially proper that on this seventeenth anniversary of Baylor university we should do our best to show proper courtesy to those early founders and to those who labored so faithfully in the earlier years of the institution, many of them almost without compensation.

Especially do I urge that our Baylor men show appreciation for the good things that are being prepared for us by the Baylor ladies. Our gallantry must cause us to attend all these homecoming exercises.

Very respectfully, J. D. WILLIS,

Famous Artists' Model to Appear at Rex

"The Panama-Pacific Girl."

Such is the name given Audrey Munson, the world-famed artist's model, who will be seen in the "Inspiration" Mutual master picture, "Inspiration." Miss Munson is known as the "Panama-Pacific Girl" because she posed for most of the art and sculpture work at the fair at San Francisco. Her figure adorns such of the beautiful decorations from the hands of the New York artists.

Miss Munson was also the model for the Firemen's monument, the Pulitzer memorial, for the Maine monument and for almost every work of real genius in New York City ever since she was first discovered.

Miss Munson is the most famous artist's model in the world and is paid to a single artist for one picture, "Inspiration," which has been contracted for by the Rex management, and which will be shown in Waco on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 25 and 26.

K. P.s Will Hold Annual Roll Call Next Monday Night

The annual roll call meeting of the Cowan lodge No. 77, Knights of Pythias, will take place Monday night at Castle hall and instead of the customary speeches, a cabaret program will be given, to be followed by a luncheon and smoker. Arrangements are in charge of a committee, consisting of J. D. Willis, P. A. Weathered and Dr. Paul C. Murphy.

Since the founding of the Knights of Pythias, fifty-one years ago, the annual roll call has grown to be a great feature. The names of each of the 300 members will be called and each member will respond, either in person or by proxy.

Some of the best local professional talent will be engaged for the cabaret and a pleasing repast, with plenty of good cigars, will follow it. It is possible that one or two short addresses will be given, but the cabaret will be the leading attraction.

TODAY—BAYLOR UNIVERSITY HOME-COMING

A Hearty Welcome to You All.

The Baylor Home-Coming, which commences today and which commemorates the Seventieth Anniversary of the South's greatest University, is an event in the lives of men and women that brings with it a feeling that words cannot express or pictures portray. "Home-Coming," and at Thanksgiving time—no more beautiful sentiment can be imagined.

The House of Sanger Brothers, established in Waco twenty-eight years after the founding of Baylor University, has enjoyed the patronage and the friendship of the early students of Baylor, their sons and daughters, their grandchildren and their great grandchildren.

As business men and as citizens of this city and state, we have learned to appreciate and love the people connected with Baylor University, the student body, the faculty and all the attaches of the institution.

We extend a joyful and most hearty welcome to the "Home-Comers." We want you to visit the Sanger Store, to buy if you like, but more especially that we may personally extend a heartfelt welcome and renew old memories. You'll find the Sanger Store, in spirit and policy, the same as it has been for the past forty-two years; you'll find here the same sincere "Glad to see you"—the only difference is found in our greater and better store service, that has improved, like Baylor University has improved, with every day, week, month and year since the beginning.

A Real Live Pony to Be Given Away Absolutely Free on Christmas Eve in Sanger Toyland

We have selected the prettiest Pony we could find in the exhibits at the Texas Cotton Palace and are going to give it away absolutely free in Sanger Toyland on Christmas Eve. Old Santa will present it himself to some little boy or girl.

Every little boy or girl visiting Sanger Toyland in the Sanger Wholesale building on Fourth street, First Floor, should write his or her name in Santa Claus' Book and ask Old Santa or any of the salesmen in charge about the Free Pony. The Pony will be in Sanger Toyland in his especially constructed stall every day from now until Christmas Eve. Bring the children to see Santa Claus and the Pony. The Pony is from the Cotton Palace exhibit of J. F. Cavitt of McGregor, Texas.
